BUDGET

HOUSE REPUBLICANS

REP. JASON SMITH, REPUBLICAN LEADER

When asked to defend a massive spending agenda, President Biden said:

"What would they have me cut? What would they have me leave out?"

We are glad you asked, Mr. President.

Alley Art

Detroit, Michigan is spending $3 million from the American Rescue Plan to paint murals in alleys. WDIC Local 4 reports:

"Many of you might think of alleys only as places for dumping trash, but a new program might change your way of thinking and give those neighborhoods something new to celebrate."

So now we can celebrate Detroit alleys as a place for dumping federal taxpayer dollars instead. But at least this will bring the community together says Detroit Mayor Mike Duggan:

"...The community will be able to meet with the artist, and they'll agree on, and then the artist will agree on and proceed to paint it."

Well, if there is one thing we can all "agree on" it's that wasteful spending is right up Washington Democrats' alley.

Stay tuned for more.
